The Lost Gardens of Heligan - 200 acres of garden history, mystery and romance

On Monday 16th February 1990, The Lost Gardens of Heligan were rediscovered from the brambles of time. It was only the chance discovery of a door in the ruins that led to the restoration of this once great estate. Today, The Lost Gardens are back where they belong: in pride of place among the finest gardens in the United Kingdom.

Open all year, Heligan is a garden for all seasons, so whether you plan to visit in the delights of spring colour, the hazy buzz of mid-summer, or the tranquillity of autumn and winter, you are guaranteed a unique experience.

We would love to welcome your visitors to the gardens and hope that you find all the information you need to arrange your visit within this leaflet, but please do not hesitate to get in touch should you wish to discuss your group's needs and interests further.
